Profile

I consider myself a responsible professional who likes to collaborate in a team focused on results because in this way better results can be given to clients, always looking for ways to resolve situations in the simplest but most professional way.

On the other hand, I really like to collaborate in a company where I can add a value and change the process for make a better service apart of innovations.
So more personal I like too listening to music, watching movies and series, researching new technologies that I could learn.
Actually, I'm in an audiovisual position (postproduction on livestreaming) and networking support area.
